

HOW TO PREPARE FOR THE NEW PROVISIONS IN THE FAIR WORK ACT

SPEAKERS:

MS SUSAN BOOTH, COMMISSIONER - FAIR WORK AUSTRALIA &
MS ANNIE SMEATON, SENIOR COUNSEL - COOPER, GRACE, WARD

SEMINAR DETAILS

This is your opportunity to get information from a Commissioner about the recent amendments to the Fair Work Act due to be implemented in January 2014 and ask a senior industrial lawyer your burning legal questions.

Ms Booth will be providing information about the new workplace anti-bullying provisions and how best to prepare for any potential applications; including reviewing the definition of bullying, jurisdiction of applications and how to manage workplace bullying applications. Ms Booth will also cover the updated union right of entry provisions and the new 'family friendly' measures and new consultation requirements.

Ms Annie Smeaton, Special Counsel, Cooper, Grace, Ward, is the second speaker and will give you an outline of how to prepare yourself for complaints of workplace bullying and when to investigate. She will also answer your legal questions in an informative legal Q&A session designed to provide you with candid and practical information. Please email your questions prior to the event to give Ms Smeaton time to prepare.

INTRODUCING THE SPEAKERS:

MS SUSAN BOOTH

Ms Susan Booth is a Commissioner for Fair Work Australia. She was the longest Anti-Discrimination Commissioner in Queensland, before she accepted a position in the Queensland Civil and Administrative Tribunal. Ms Susan Booth will be sharing with us how we can expect the new provisions in the Fair Work Act to work and how we can prepare ourselves for any potential claims.

MS ANNIE SMEATON

Ms Annie Smeaton is Senior Counsel for Cooper, Grace, Ward Lawyers. She is a senior industrial relations specialist and will be leading the 'closed door' legal session where she will answer any legal questions you may have. Please email us your questions prior to the event.
